9. QUESTION: (INCLUDE SCENARIO IF NEEDED FOR CLARITY):

An under 22 year old enrolled at a institution of higher learning full-time. Student was initially aided in parent household prior to leaving to college. Student receives financial aid and work study during the regular school year. Student comes home to parents house over the summer and works a job. Should the student continue to be aided as part of her parents household, since they intend to return to the initial county of residence and are under the age of 22? Would the student continue to be aided over the summer, if they are meeting the student eligibility requirement by working an average of 20 hours per week or 80 hours per month with the summer job?

10. REQUESTOR'S PROPOSED ANSWER:

The student would be part of their parents CalFresh household, since they are under 22 and a required intent to reside permanently in a county cannot be imposed. If the student is temporarily residing in another county but intends to return to their initial county of residence, they can be part of the initial county household. In addition, if the student is meeting the student eligibility requirement with the summer job, they would continue to be aided over the summer.

11. STATE POLICY RESPONSE (CFPB USE ONLY):

State concurs with proposed answer.
